

SOUTH SLAVE 2018
ARCTIC WINTER GAMES // FIND YOUR POWER

May 5, 2016

For Immediate Release:

The 2018 South Slave Arctic Winter Games Host Society hires its General Manager.

2018 South Slave Arctic Winter Games (2018 SSAWG) Host Society President Gregory Rowe made the announcement last week to committee members in both Hay River and Fort Smith.

“I’m very pleased & excited to announce that Todd Shafer has accepted the position of General Manager for the 2018 SSAWG,” said Mr. Rowe. “Todd’s wealth of local, regional and territorial knowledge, combined with his communication and organizational skills, will be a tremendous asset to the host society.”

‘For the South Slave communities to play host to this high profile sporting event is an inspiration to small communities and regions throughout the North,’ stated Shafer. ‘I’m honoured to play a role in this incredible adventure, and look forward to hosting the circumpolar world in 2018.’

Todd brings over 20 years of experience in the sport and recreation field, including having worked in the NWT since 2002.

Mr. Shafer will be working out of our Hay River office at 202-76 Capital Drive, with time also spent at a Fort Smith office to be established in the near future.
